

Paramore - Sanity (Demo)

tom:

[Primeira Parte]

Sanity, why must you make a fool of me?

You've been a friend to me, now I think we're enemies, yeah, yeah

If I fall on my knees, I hear you laughing

If I call on your name, you don't come

[Refrão]

No one home, but the void is loud (this must be the void)

Echoes around my empty house (this must be the void)

Synapses are slowing down

This must be the void they always talk about

This must be the void

[Segunda Parte]

Levity, fill me up, let me flow

I'll let you take care of me, you can help me let go

If I fall on my knees, I hear you laughing

If I call on your name, you don't come

[Refrão]

No one home, but the void is loud (this must be the void)

Echoes around my empty house (this must be the void)

Synapses are slowing down

This must be the void they always talk about

No one home, but the void is loud (this must be the void)

Echoes around my empty house (this must be the void)

Synapses are slowing down

This must be the void they always talk about

This must be the void

[Ponte]

Finally, I have arrived

Finally, I have arrived (and there is nothing to see)

Finally, I have arrived (and there is nothing to grieve)

Finally, I have arrived, arrived, arrived, arrived

[Refrão]

No one home, but the void is loud (this must be the void)

Echoes around my empty house (this must be the void)

Synapses are slowing down

This must be the void they always talk about

This must be the void

No one home, but the void is loud (this must be the void)

Echoes around my empty house (this must be the void)

Synapses are slowing down

This must be the void they always talk about

This must be the void
