

Pete Murray - So Beautiful

```
Tom: Bb
                                                                Now you think your so damn fine
                                              G )
 (com acordes na forma de
                                                                A7sus4
Capostraste na 3º casa
                                                                You can rule the world no not mine, I don't Intro: Em A7sus4 C A Intro: and Verse
                                                                think so Em A7sus4 C A Em Am
                                                                   God my fingers burn, Now when I think of touching your hair
[Em - - -][Am - - -][D - - -][C - C -]
                                                                You have changed
                                                                 so much that I don't know, If I can Verse:
                                                                 call you and tell you I care \mathsf{Em}
Found myself just the other day
                                                                Em Am D C C x 2
In the backyard of a friends place,
                                                                Now the scene that you're in,
Thinkin' about you,
                                                                A7sus4
                                                                And the people that you been Cwith Thinkin' of the crowd you're in,
                                                                Just get to me,
What you up too where you've been
                                                                But you think I'm not as cool,
Just thinkin'
                                                                A7sus4
                                                                As you are so beautiful
And all the clothes that you wear,
                                                                Well who you fooling
A7sus4
And the colors in your hair Shouldn't Well I'm here to tell you babe change you
                                                                The Amgame your in is just a Now you tell me why it's so game So damn pretenasusatious
A7sus4
You bigger than mighty Joe,
At least you
                                                                  God my fingers
think so burn, Now when I think of God my fingers burn, Now when I
                                                                touching your hair
think of touching your hair
                                                                You have changed
You have changed
                                                                so much that I don't
so much that I don't know, If I can know, If I can
call you and tell you I care
                                                                 call you and
And I would tell you I care love to bring you down, Plant your
                                                                And I would
feet back on the ground
                                                                love to bring you Throw my smoke down on the ground, down, Plant your
                                                                         C Em
Turn my head and I heard the sound, That
                                                                 feet back on the ground
reminded me
                                                                You think you're so
Of the days so young and sweet beautiful Always so much fun to me At least I So beautiful thought so
```

Acordes

