

P.O.D - Fly Away

Tom: D

( A Gbm D E )

So who are you to say what life is like, that life is good?
 And I bet whoever said it never walked up in my hood
 So I wish you would, and maybe you should
 You should discover what is missing, since you misunderstood
 Time and time again, they keep on messing with my head
 So I cannot lie, a man go mess up now and then
 I don't know why, yet still I try to find my way
 I asked the preacher man to show me how to pray and so I say

If I can fly away, I would fly away, will fly away, oh glory

If I can fly away, I would fly away, will fly away, oh glory

So take me away, where everything is okay
 And tell me where I can go, where only love is what we know
 And I, I'll fly away
 Into a place I can go, where only love is what we know

It's so hard to keep it going when the going gets tough
 And it's so hard to keep on trying when your best ain't good enough

No ifs and buts, all the who's, why's and what's Man, who ever came up with this stuff?
 But, never-the-less, just ask a friend what's in his head
 And all the while you just might find that we forget
 We're all the same, whether it's love, whether it's pain
 Even the preacher man forgets how to pray some days
 We say

If I can fly away, I would fly away, will fly away, oh glory
 If I can fly away, I would fly away, will fly away, oh glory

So take me away, where everything is okay
 And tell me where I can go, where only love is what we know
 And I, I'll fly away
 Into a place I can go, where only love is what we know

Want, want, I want, want, I want, I want love, But what they know, what they know about love?

Want, want, I want, want, I want, I want love, 'Cause it's all about love

So take me away, where everything is okay
 And tell me where I can go, where only love is what we know...

And I, I'll fly away
 Into a place I can go, where only love is what we know
 So take me away, where everything is okay
 And tell me where I can go, where only love is what we know.
