                                                                But there's still beauty in the nosedive
                                                                Sometimes you're runnin'
I found God looking for the devil
                                                                Sometimes you're crawlin'
Chasin' the high, couldn't keep forever
                                                                Sometimes you're broke
          G
                                                                But sometimes you're ballin'
It's always worse before the better I suppose
            G
And how far down, it's hard to tell
                                                                But there's still beauty in the nosedive
               G
When to buy, when to sell
             G
                                                                Ah
'Cause I come down, it hurts like hell
                                                                  A G D
                    G G D
                                                                On my descent
And every thorn has its rose
                                                                   G G C
                                                                The turbulence
Sometimes you're drivin'
                                                                Is my best friend
                                                                      G
Sometimes you're stallin'
                                                                Buckle up and enjoy the ride
                                                                 G D
                                                                I cut my life
Sometimes you're flyin'
                                                                       G G C
Sometimes you're fallin'
                                                                Through pale blue skies
But there's still beauty in the nosedive
                                                                To remind me I'm alive
Sometimes you're runnin'
                                                                Sometimes you're drivin'
Sometimes you're crawlin'
                                                                Sometimes you're stallin'
Sometimes you're broke
                                                                Sometimes you're flyin'
But sometimes you're ballin'
                                                                Sometimes you're fallin'
                G
But there's still beauty in the nosedive
                                                                But there's still beauty in the nosedive
I hit rock and dropped the shovel
                                                                Sometimes you're runnin'
Clawed my way up past the rubble
                                                                Sometimes you're crawlin'
Do my best, stay out of trouble, heaven knows
                                                                Sometimes you're broke
Sometimes to picture it ain't perfect
                                                                But sometimes you're ballin'
But there's learnin' in the hurtin'
                                                                But there's still beauty in the nosedive
Sick of bearin' all the burden

                                                                Sometimes you're drivin'
Every thorn has its rose
                                                                Sometimes you're stallin'
                                                                Sometimes you're flyin'
Sometimes you're drivin'
                                                                Sometimes you're fallin'
Sometimes you're stallin'
                                                                But there's still beauty in the nosedive
