

Queen - Made in heaven

```
Cm
                                                               Everybody, everybody, says,
Intro: G Gm - Eb - Gm
       G Gm - Eb
                                                                                  Dbm
                                                                         Bh7
       G \quad Gm \ - \ Eb \ - \ Gm
                                                               Yes it was meant to be, yeah yeah,
       G Gm - Eb - F
                                                               Pós Refrão:
       Verso 1:
                                                                           Db
         Bb
       I'm taking my ride with destiny,
                                                               When stormy weather comes around,
       Willing to play my part,
                                                               It was made in heaven,
        Bb
                                                                        Db
                                                                                        Bb7
       Living with painful memories,
                                                               When sunny skies break through behind the clouds,
                                                               Ab Cm Fm I wish it could last forever,
       Eb Eb Cm
       loving with all my heart,
                                                                                  Bbm
       Refrão:
                                                               Wish it could last forever, forever,
               Db
                                                                     B E Db B Ab F - Bb
       Made in heaven, made in heaven,
                                                        Solo base: E B E
       (2:59)
       Made in heaven, made in heaven
       Cm Fm Thats what they say, can't you see
                         Bbm
       Thats what everybody says to me,
       Dbm Eb
Can't you see
                                                               Verso 3:
                                                                 Bb
               Cm
                                                               I'm playing my role in history
       I know, I know, I know that its true
                                                                              Gm
                                                               Looking to find my goal,
                    Bb7
       Yes, its really meant to be,
                                                                Bb
        Ab
                                                               Taking in all this misery,
       Deep in my heart,
                                                                      Eb Cm
                                                               But giving it all my soul,
       Repete a Intro:
                                                               Refrão:
                                                                       Db
       Verso 2:
                                                               Made in heaven, made in heaven,
       I'm having to learn to pay the price,
                                                                Fm Bb Eb
                                                               It was all meant to be,
       They're turning me upside down,
                                                                     Db
       Bb Bb7
                                                               Made in heaven, made in heaven,
       Waiting for possibilities,
                                                                                  Cm
                                                               Thats what everybody says, wait and see,
       Eb Eb Cm
       Don't see too many around,
                                                                   Dbm
                                                               It was really meant to be,
                                                               So plain to see,
                                                                 Eb
               Db
       Made in heaven, made in heaven,
                                                                                     Fm
                                                               Yeah everybody, everybody tells me so,
       Fm Bb Eb
       It's for all to see,
                                                               Bb7
                          Bb7
                                                               Yes it was plain to see,
               Db
       Made in heaven, made in heaven,
        Cm
                                                               Yes it was meant to be,
       Thats what everybody says, everybody says to me,
                                                                                       Abm - E - Abm Abm - E
                                                                             Abm
                 Dbm
                                                               Written in the stars
       It was really meant to be,
                                                                                     Abm - E - Abm Abm - E
                                                               Written in the stars
       Can't you see,
                                                                                       Abm - E - Abm Abm - E
                                                                             Abm
                                                               Written in the stars
     Gh
                 G
                                                                                        Bb7
                             Gm
                                                                            Dn
```

Acordes

