

Rafael Milhomem - Steep Price

tom:

Am

Deep in the forest, I feel the darkness
Silent screams echo in the air
Destroying nature is foolish or madness
In the shadows, whispers of despair

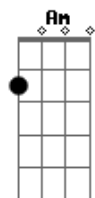

Hellish fire! The earth has a fever
Tears resiliently water the ground
We'll be just a self-gravediggers
Wrong path! We don't deserve to be earthbound

[Refrão]

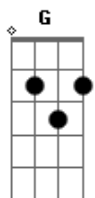

In the embers, hope still flickers
Beneath the weight of mistakes profound
With each scar, the nature whispers
In your hands, the earth's fate is found

Black smoke clouds, the sky is tarnished
Industries roar in disdain
In toxic mist, life is almost banished
A steep price for an empty gain

[Refrão]

In the embers, hope still flickers
Beneath the weight of mistakes profound
With each scar, the nature whispers
In your hands, the earth's fate is found

Upon the mountains, glaciers weep
Their icy tears, a warning call
In the thaw, memories drown deep
As nature's balance begins to fall

Our legacy written in scars and pain
As we reap what we cannot sustain
In our blind pursuit, we have caused the bane
A steep price for an empty gain

[Refrão]

In the embers, hope still flickers
Beneath the weight of mistakes profound
With each scar, the nature whispers
In your hands, the earth's fate is found
