

Reckless Love - Eyes Of a Maniac

```
Who did you expect? the mirror reflects
                                                           tom:
                                                           Dbm
Intro: Dbm
                                                                                                                                                                                                                                          [Refrão 21
[Primeira Parte]
                                                                                                                                                                                                                                          Eyes of a maniac
                                           Dbm
Why does it find me everytime?
                                                                                                                                                                                                                                          Follow me through the neon night
                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                               Dbm
Even though I've been living like a runaway
                                                                                                                                                                                                                                          And I know they see right through my mind
                         Dbm
So many months under the radar
                                                                                                                                                                                                                                          Though I am trying to hide
                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                        Dbm
That I don't know how my crazy getaway
                                                                                                                                                                                                                                          Eyes of a maniac
                                                   Dbm
Is blown away, again I'm like a ninja
                                                                                                                                                                                                                                         Haunt me until the morning light
                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                            Dbm
                                                                                                                                                                                                                                          And it feels like I can not escape
I move in the dark and still this creature
                                           Dbm
Is after my heart tonight I need ya
                                                                                                                                                                                                                                          They find me everytime
                                                                                                                                                                                                                                          [Ponte]
I'm losing this game it might be too late
                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                             Dbm
[Refrão]
                                                                                                                                                                                                                                          Eyes of a maniac
                                   Dbm
                                                                                                                                                                                                                                         In the mirror, in in the mirror in the mirror, in every mirror % \left( 1\right) =\left( 1\right) \left( 1
Eyes of a maniac
                                                                                                                                                                                                                                          In the mirror, in every mirror (Oh oooh) oh oooh
Follow me through the neon night
                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                 Dbm
                                                                                                                                                                                                                                          Eyes of the maniac
                    Dbm
And I know they see right through my mind
                                                                                                                                                                                                                                         In the mirror, in in the mirror
Though I am trying to hide
                                                                                                                                                                                                                                          In the mirror, uh
Eyes of a maniac
                                                                                                                                                                                                                                          [Solo] A Dbm A B Abm A
Haunt me until the morning light
                                                                                                                                                                                                                                          [Refrão 3]
And it feels like I can not escape
                                                                                                                                                                                                                                          Eyes of a maniac
They find me everytime
[Segunda Parte]
                                                                                                                                                                                                                                          Follow me through the neon night
                                                                                                                                                                                                                                          And I know they see right through my mind
This is the night it's going down
                                                                                                                                                                                                                                          Though I am trying to hide
Baby I'm fighting for the sweet sanity
                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                        Dbm
                                                                                                                                                                                                                                          Eyes of a maniac
Trying to be brave but it's scary
                                                                                                                                                                                                                                         Haunt me until the morning light
Feeling the madness pull me like gravity
                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                               Dbm
                                                                                                                                                                                                                                          And it feels like I can not escape
No no no no more a ninja
                                                                                                                                                                                                                                          They find me everytime
                              Α
I'm facing my fear my darkest feature
                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                               Dbm
                                       Dbm
                                                                                                                                                                                                                                          Eyes of a maniac
I see it so clear it's nice to meet ya
Acordes
```

Dbn