R.E.M. - Parakeet

Tom: G
G Bm E
you wake up in the morning
and fall out of your bed
G Bm E
mean cat eat parakeets

$$

\end{array}
$$

and this one's nearly dead.
you dearly wish the wind shift
G Bm E
and greasy windows slide
G Bm E
open for the parakeet
who's colored bitter lime.

Em
C
open the window
Am Bm D
and lift into your dreams
Em
lately, baby
Am D H7
you can barely breathe.
G Bm E
a broken wrist an accident

$$
\text { G } \quad \mathrm{Bm} \quad \mathrm{E}
$$

you know that something's wrong
G Bm E
you fold the leavings of your past
D C H
no one knows you've gone.
G Bm E
the sunspot flares of the early G Bm E
nineties light up your wings.

$$
\mathrm{G} \quad \mathrm{Bm}
$$

and scan the shortwave radio
it's tracking outer rings.
Em C
open your window
Am Bm D

```
to lift into a dream
C
baby, baby
Am D H7
you can starts to breathe
    G Bm E
the tectonic dispatcher shifts
    G Bm E
to smooth the ocean floor
    G Bm E
and flattens out to warmer winds
    D C H
of Brisbane's sunny shore.
where buddhas tend to mending wrists
    G Bm E
a tea made from the leaves
    G Bm E
of eucalyptus fragrances
    D C H
and coriander seeds.
Em C
open the window
    Am Bm D
to lift into a dream
Em C
baby, baby
Am Bm D
you can starts to breathe.
Em C
open your window
        Am Bm D
to lift into a dream
Em C
baby, baby
Am D H7
you can starts to breathe
    G Bm E
you wake up in the morning
G Bm E
to warm Pacific breeze
    G Bm E
where mean cars chew on licorice
    D C Abm
and cannot climb the trees.
```
