

Reneé Rapp - I Think I Like You Better When You're Gone

I think I like you better when you're gone tom:
                 Abm (forma dos acordes no tom de Gbm )
                                                                   Mm - mm - mm
Capostraste na 2ª casa
                                                                   I think I like you better
I know that I'm supposed to miss you and wish that you were
                                                                   I think I like you better when you're
                                                                   Across the fucking country
But the more I drink, the more I think, you might just Three thousand miles away disappear
                                                                              D
                                                                   Three timezones from my face and
I got a funny feeling, funny feeling something's wrong
                                                                   We're packing two different bags
I think I like you better
I think I like you better when you're
                                                                   Admit that it makes me sad
                                                                   Counting down the days in different ways, mm
Out of sight, out of mind
                                                                                 Em
Even wore that shit that you don't like
                                                                   I know that I'm supposed to miss you and wish that you were here (and wish that you were)
Had a little fun, got a little drunk
                                                                   But the more I drink, the more I think, you might just
And it didn't kill nobody, right?
                                                                   disappear (might just disappear)
                                                                   I got a funny feeling, funny feeling something's wrong
One week until you get back (get back)
                                                                   I think I like you better
Admit that it makes me sad
                                                                   I think I like you better when you're gone
Counting down the days in different ways, mm
I know that I'm supposed to miss you and wish that you were
                                                                   I think I like you better
                                                                   I think I like you better when you're gone
But the more I drink, the more I think, you might just Mm-mm-mm (mm-mm)
disappear
                                                                   I think I like you better
I got a funny feeling, funny feeling something's wrong
                                                                   I think I like you better when you're gone
