

Roxette - No One Makes It On Her Own

Tom: C

Have you ever had the feeling you take it all for granted

You wake up every morning and expect to rise

Have you ever had a moment to look into the mirror

To find a person Who won't open her eyes

Have you ever felt a presence (or is it all in the past, dear?)

So mesmerizing It chills you to the bone

Have you ever been in love And overcome that first fear

Well, then you know No one makes it on her own

Did you ever catch a sunset right across the ocean

The universe revealed and it didn't make sense at all

When you came into my world causing quite a commotion

I could have sworn I've met you many times before

Am F C

Cos there's something in your eyes That links us together

Something 'bout your face your lips Your smile looks so alone

Have you ever been in love and thought it'd last forever

Well, then you know no one makes it on her own

oooooooo oooooooooo oooooooooo

Solo 2x: D D D D A G

Hey, there's something in your eyes that links us together

Something 'bout your face your lips your smile looks so alone

Have you ever been in love and thought it'd last forever

Then you know no one makes it on her own

oooooooo oooooooooo oooooooooo

no one makes it on her own
