

Ruth Radelet - The Wild Unknown

tom:

D

I've got a feeling I can't explain

I feel different, I'm not the same

When the Moon is high

I could touch the sky

And the world seems so wide

How long will I have to wait

Before I step through that gate

Into the wild unknown

Find a place like home

How far will I have to go

Which way will the river flow

Will I always be watching

From my window

From my window

I've got a feeling I can't deny

Something burning deep inside

And I can't erase

This empty space

I could disappear without a trace

How long will I have to wait

Before I step through that gate

Into the wild unknown

Find a place like home

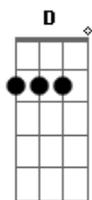

How far will I have to go

Which way will the river flow

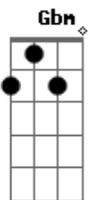

Will I always be watching

From my window
