

Selena Gomez - Anxiety (feat. Julia Michaels)

And my exes all say that I'm hard to deal with
                                                               And I admit it, it's true
My friends, they wanna take me to the movies
I tell 'em to fuck off, I'm holding hands with my depression
                                                                  But all my friends, they don't know what it's like, what it's like
And right when I think I've overcome it
Anxiety starts kicking in to teach that shit a lesson
                                                                 I've been told that I could take something to fix it
                            Am
Oh, I try my best just to be social
                                                                                               Dm
                                                               Damn, I wish it, I wish it was that simple, ah
I make all these plans with friends and hope they call and
                                                                                         Dm
Then I overthink about the things I?m missing
                                                               I got all these thoughts running through my mind
Now I'm wishing I was with 'em
                                                               All the damn time and I can't seem to shut it off
                                                                                       Am
Feel like I'm always apologizing for feeling
                                                               I think I'm doing fine most of the time
Like I'm out of my mind when I'm doing just fine
And my exes all say that I'm hard to deal with
                                                               I got all these thoughts running through my mind
And I admit it, yeah
                                                               All the damn time and I can't seem to shut it off
                                                               I think I'm doing fine most of the time
 But all my friends, they don't know what it's like, what
 They don't understand why I can't sleep through the night
                                                                 Shut it, shut it, yeah
                                Dm
 I've been told that I could take something to fix it
                                Dm
Damn, I wish it, I wish it was that simple, ah
                          Dm
All my friends they don't know what it's like, what it's like
                                                                            Αm
                                                                                                Dm
                                                                 I've been told that I could take something to fix it
Always wanted to be one of those people in the room
                                                               Damn, I wish it, I wish it was that simple, ah
That says something and everyone puts their hand up
                                                                                         Dm
Like: If you're sad put your hand up
                                                               Li-i-i-ike
If you hate someone, put your hand up
If you're scared, put your hand up
                                                               What it's like, what it's like
Feel like I'm always apologizing for feeling
                                                               What it's like
Like I'm out of my mind when I'm doing just fine
                                                               (I love this song)
