                                                         Where were, where were you?
                                                                           Cm Bm
You said, "I wanna get to know ya"
                                                        How do you, how do you just walk away?

                   Cm Bm
Why you gotta get my hopes up?
                                                         Where were, where were you?
                                  Cm
You said that you were staying over
                                                         And I hope you had a good reason
But then I woke up to the cold air
                                                         'Cause I know you had a good time
                                                         And I'm looking up at the ceiling
How could you make me believe?
                            Cm
That there was something in between you and me, yeah
                                                         And I keep wondering why
                        Bm Cm
I look around and I don't see you
                                                        Where were you in the morning, baby?
