The electric man looks good today
 Maybe not, well I'm trying hard
 Trying hard to feel that way
 The electric man's a good place to start

Took your paintings off the wall
 That one of me that you called doll
 I added on 'cuz the house was feeling small
 Now I can sing my song again

I don't think of you no more
 Except for everyday or two
 I don't think of you no more
 Except for in between the sun and moon

Packed up and moved out after all
 Bulldozed the house and watched it fall
 That blessed sight I still recall
 I can sing my song again
 I can sing my song again
