

Simon & Garfunkel - A Simple Desultory Philippic

```
Tom: D
                                                                   so i smoke a pint of tea a day.
   (intro riff)
                                                                  (interlude)
                                                                       i knew a man, his brain was so small,
                                                                  He couldn't think of nothing at all.
(intro) (intro riff x2)
                                                                  He's not the same as you and me.
                                                                  He doesn't dig poetry.
(verse 1)
      D (intro riff)
I been norman mailered, maxwell taylored.
                                                                  He's so unhip that when you say dylan,
       D (intro riff)
I been john o'hara'd, mcnamara'd.
                                                                  He thinks you're talking about dylan thomas,
I been rolling stoned and beatled 'til i'm blind.
                                                                  Whoever he was.
                                                                  The man ain't got no culture,
I been ayn randed, nearly branded
                                                                  But it's alright, ma, everybody must get stoned.
Communist, 'cause i'm left-handed.
                                      D (bar7)
                                                                  (verse 3) (as before)
                                                                   i been mick jaggered, silver daggered.
That's the hand i use, well, never mind!
                                                                   andy warhol, won't you please come home?
(verse 2) (as before)
                                                                   i been mothered, fathered, aunt and uncled,
 i been phil spectored, resurrected.
                                                                   been roy haleed and art garfunkeled.
i been lou adlered, barry sadlered.
well, i paid all the dues i want to pay.
                                                                   i just discovered somebody's tapped my phone.
 and i learned the truth from lenny bruce, (ending) (repeat intro riff to fade)
 and all my wealth won't buy me health,
```

Acordes

