

Sleep Theory - Another Way

Lookin' at me like I'm a reason to leave like I'm not anything tom:
                                                                Listen to me, I'm not about to believe that I lost everything
                Bbm
Intro: Bbm Db Ebm Gb F
                                                                If it's the end, you better know it's the end, make me a [Primeira Parte]
                                                                casualty
                                                                'Cause once you leave, you're dead to me
I can feel it when you come around
You can say a lot but never make a sound
                                                                So when the bottom falls
                                                                Gb
Even with a look I know it's going down
                                                               And goes up in flames
Save us both some time and just say it
                                                                I'll lay the past to rest
You never let me know when something changed
                                                               And forget your name
                                                                Bbm
You made a fool of me and I'm to blame
                                                                So when the bottom falls
For thinking things could ever be the same
                                                                My heart does the same
                                                               Db
When you're already done
                                                               And I remember the words
[Refrão]
                                                                You never had to say
                                                                ( Gb Bbm Gb Db Fm )

So when the bottom falls
                                                                If there's no more hope
And goes up in flames
                                                                If there's nothing here to save
I'll lay the past to rest
                                                                I'll stand alone without you
And forget your name
                                                                I'll find another way
So when the bottom falls
My heart does the same
                                                                So when the bottom falls (when the bottom falls)
And I r?member the words
                                                                And goes up in flames (up in flames)

You n?ver had to say
                                                                I'll lay the past to rest (to rest)
[Segunda Parte]
                                                                And forget your name (forget your name)
                                                                So when the bottom falls (when the bottom falls)
You let me think that we were okay
                                                               My heart does the same
Even though you knew that it was too late
                                                                And I remember the words (remember the words)
I guess you knew that I'd get in the way
                                                                Ab
                                                                You never had to sav
If you'd ever come out and just say it
                                                                [Final] Bbm Db Ebm Gb F
