

Sofia Carson - Guns & Roses

```
Tom: Eb
                                                            I just want you now
                                                                   Abm
m [Intro] Ebm Abm Gb Db
                                                            We've been going at it forever
                                                            Gb
                                                            No one ever surrenders
It's beautiful every time
                                                             Db
                                                            We're just like, we're just like
         Gb
But we're killing ourselves
                                                            Ebm Abm
          Db
While we're thrilling ourselves
                                                            Guns & roses
                                                           Our loves are better Db
Hate when you make me cry
                                                            And everyone knows it
   Gb
I'm a rose in the crack fading
                                                            You take me right to the edge
Under your spell
                                                                             Abm
                                                            In my head he's a beautiful mess
 Ebm
                                                                                              Db
(Yeah, yeah)
                                                                Gb
                                                            We can hurt but it's worse when we live without it
When I'm feeling you around me
                                                                      Abm
                                                            Guns & roses
 Db
I just want
                                                            (Oh oh oh)
                                                             Gb
                                                            Guns & roses
I just want you now
                                                            (Oh oh oh)
      Ahm
We've been going at it forever
No one ever surrenders
                                                            Look from all the playback
 Db
                                                            Abm
We're just like, we're just like
                                                            Lying when you say that
Ebm Abm
                                                            Love will never do you no harm
Guns & roses
                                                            Dangerous together
Our loves are better
                                                             Ahm
                                                            Please don't make me wait long
    Gb
And everyone knows it
                                                                                 Db Ebm Abm
                                                            I just wanna lay in your arms
You take me right to the edge
                                                                Gb
                 Ahm
In my head he's a beautiful mess
                                                           And everyone knows it
We can hurt but it's worse when we live without it
                                                            In my head he's a beautiful mess
                                                                                              Db
We're like
                                                                 Gb
                                                            We can hurt but it's worse when we live without it
Ebm
Guns & roses
(Oh oh oh)
                                                            We're like
Gb
                                                            Ebm Abm
Guns & roses
                                                            Guns & roses
(Oh oh oh)
                                                            (Our loves our better)
                                                            And everyone knows it
I know that it's not right
      Gb
But I'm scared if we change that it
                                                            (You take me right to the edge)
Won't feel the same
                                                            In my head he's a beautiful mess
        Fbm
                                                                   Gb
                                                            (We can hurt but it's worse)
Like I'm broken, falling in your side
                                                                Db
        Gb
But you're into the pain
                                                            When you live without it
     Db
                                                           We're like
Ebm Abm
And we can't walk away now
 Ebm
(Yeah, yeah)
                                                            Guns & roses
         Abm
                                                            (Oh oh oh)
                                                            Gb Db
When I'm feeling you around me
 Db
                                                            Guns & roses
I just want
                                                              Ebm
                                                            (Oh oh oh)
               Ebm
```

Acordes

