Intro: 3x: Abm Bb Ebm Abm
                                                         So I've got my hallways and my hotels
         Rh
                Fhm R
                            Dh
                                   Gb
                                                         And a ticket with my name
                                                         It's been too long since I've seen you
                             Bh
                                                         And there's so much to say.
In two months I'm through the doorway,
                                                         But just be with me now,
Put my guitar on the floor,
And you will sit and tell me,
                                                         With your hair wrapped around my fingers,
                                                                   Ebm
                                                                           Db
That you can't take anymore,
                                                         Where your words turn into whispers,
                                                                   Ebm Db
                                                                                  Abm
And you will sit and wonder,
                                                         Where you fall asleep and dream, dream, dream
                Abm
What I can only speculate,
                                                         That you could be with me now,
                                                              Ebm Db
                                                         As I keep track on my fingers,
That time is going to be telling us what we don't want it to
                                                               Ebm Db
                                                         Of the cities and the strangers,
say.
                                                                Ebm Db B
                                                         Of the pieces of my dreams.
So just be with me now,
                      Db
         Fbm
With your hair wrapped around my fingers,
                                                         That you could be with me now, yeah
         Ebm Db B
                                                              Ebm Db
Where your words turn into whispers,
                                                         Where your words turn into whispers,
         Ebm Db Abm
                                                                Db B
Where you fall asleep and dream, dream,
                                                         Your hair wrapped around my fingers,
                                                          Ebm Db
                                                                      Ahm
That you could be with me now,
                                                         You fall asleep and dream, dream, dream
     Ebm Db B
As I keep track on my fingers,
                                                         That you could be with me now, yeah
                                                              Ebm Db
      Fbm Db B
                                                                              В
                                                         As I keep track on my fingers,
Of the cities and the strangers,
       Ebm Db B
                                                                Ebm Db
Of the pieces of my dreams.
                                                         The cities and the strangers,
                                                                Ebm Db B
                                                         All the pieces of my dreams.
It's been so long since I've seen you,
                                                         (Instrumental no final)
Almost forgot your face,
                                                         Ebm Db
                                                                        Gb Abm
And time it brings me full close to,
                                                         Termina em F#
But it does the opposite for me.
