Steppenwolf - You're The Only One

Tom: G
Intro: C G Am D C G Am D

C          G  Am        D          C
Dry your eyes, come sit close to me
          G      Am      D      C
Lay your head on my aching chest
          G        Am        D          C
And let me try to console and comfort you
          G        Am      D
It's my fault, i can do no less

(Repete Intro)

C          G  Am        D          C
All night long we've been talkin' 'bout
        G        Am        D    C
All the time that my work will take
          G      Am          D
But all is know is , i  work for two
        C          G
And if music ain't my life
    Am              D
It's still the living i make
    C        G          Am            D
So lie here tonight in the shelter of my arms
  C        G            Am  D
Nothing will ever take your place

          C                  G
You're the only one that knows me
          C              G
You're the only one i trust
          C          G            D
You're the only one that matters in my life
          C            G
You're the only one i lean on
          C          G
You're the only one i need
          C            G        D
You're the only one that's ever been enough
            C    G    Am    D
Oh, you're the only one i ever loved

(Repete Intro)

  C        G  Am      D    C
Soon i'll go back to battle
              G            Am          D    C
And soon i'll wear the right face for the part
              G    Am            D
But when it's over i'm coming back to you girl

          C            G        Am          D
For you're the only one that knows me by heart
        C        G          Am          D
So lie here tonight in the shelter of my arms
C            G            Am    D
Nothing will ever take your place

            C                  G
You're the only one that knows me
          C              G
You're the only one i trust
          C          G            D
You're the only one that matters in my life
          C            G
You're the only one i lean on
          C          G
You're the only one i need
          C            G        D
You're the only one that's ever been enough
              C    G    Am    D
Oh, you're the only one i ever loved

(Repete Intro)

  Am            C    Am        C
   for all those days you lived alone
Am          C      Am                C
And all those nights when you were left behind
Am          C    Am            C
And all those times you felt left out
    Am        C        Am                C
I can't repay but to make these moments count
    C        G          Am          D
So lie here tonight in the shelter of my arms
  C        G          Am  D
Nothing will ever take your place

          C                  G
You're the only one that knows me
          C              G
You're the only one i trust
          C          G            D
You're the only one that matters in my life
          C            G
You're the only one i lean on
          C          G
You're the only one i need
          C          G          D
You're the only one that's ever been enough
              C    G    Am    D
Oh, you're the only one i ever loved
