

Still Feel - Half Alive

```
I still feel alive
                            tom:
                                                                      Dm
                                                               It is hopeless, I start to notice
                                                               And I still feel alive
When I'm furthest from myself (far away)
                                                               Falling forward, back into orbit
Feeling closer to the stars (outer space)
                                                               I still feel alive
I've been invaded by the dark (can't escape)
                                                                      Dm
Trying to recognize myself when I feel I've been replaced
                                                               It is hopeless, I start to notice
When I'm furthest from myself (far away)
                                                               And I still feel alive
                                                               Falling forward, back into orbit
Feeling closer to the stars (outer space)
I've been invaded by the dark (can't escape)
                                                               Oh-oh-oh-oh
Trying to recognize myself when I feel I've been replaced
                                                               But I can feel a kick down in my soul
                                                               And it's pulling me back to earth to let me know
Oh-oh-oh-oh
                                                               And this heart that beats inside of me will show
I can feel a kick down in my soul
                                                               It will show
And it's pulling me back to earth to let me know
I am not a slave, can't be contained
                                                               Floating in outer space, have I misplaced a part of my soul?
    C Dm Fm
So pick me from the dark and pull me from the grave
                                                               Lost in the in-between, or so it seems, I'm out of control
'Cause
                                                               Floating in outer space, have I misplaced a part of my soul?
                                                               Lost in the in-between, but it can't keep me asleep for long,
I still feel alive
                       C
When it is hopeless, I start to notice
                                                               I still feel alive
And I still feel alive
                                                                  Dm
                                                               When it is hopeless, I start to notice
     Dm
Falling forward, back into orbit
                                                               And I still feel alive
                                                               Falling forward, back into orbit
So, when I lose my gravity in this sleepy womb
Drifting as I dream, but I'll wake up soon
                                                               I still feel alive
To realize the hand of life is reaching out
                                                                      Dm
                                                               When it is hopeless, I start to notice
To rid me of my pride, I call allegiance to myself
                                                               And I still feel alive
                                                               Falling forward, back into orbit
Oh-oh-oh-oh
 E7
But I can feel a kick down in my soul
                                                               I still feel alive (I can feel it)
And it's pulling me back to earth to let me know
                                                               When it is hopeless (it ain't hopeless)
I am not a slave, can't be contained
                                                                                  Fm
                                                               I start to notice (start to notice)
           Dm
                  Fm
So pick me from the dark and pull me from the grave
                                                               I still feel alive (I can feel it)
'Cause
                                                               Falling forward (falling forward)
                                                               Back into orbit (yeah)
```

Acordes

