

Sum 41 - Welcome to Hell

Tom: Gb
Intro:

verse1

verse2

song order:
Intro: x2
verse 1 x2
Intro: x2
verse 1 x2
verse 2
bass thingy verse1 x2
verse2
that mega-effects (wowow)
verse 2

Letra:

Dont come to me with your problems i dont need them your conscience is a weight that i wont hold youd rather be the only one who pretends is it because youve been bought and sold so young dont ask me questions cause i dont got the answers if only you knew what time will tell it all a test and lessons that you cant learn you know when you spend youre time in hell

as your bloods running thin your times running out
no one will be listening not even when you shout
when your angels turn to devils youll finally figure out that no one will be with you in the end a hypocrite youre just a contradiction rapped up in your lies who knows whats real well this is it your lonely life of fiction do you even know how to feel

as your bloods running thin your times running out
no one will be listening not even when you shout
when your angels turn to devils youll finally figure out
that no one will be with you in the end

the end
the end
the end

Acordes

