

T. Guy - Meant To Be Apart

Praying for the day we?ll weather the tide
                            tom:
                                                                            Gm Am
                                                               Hand in hand, side by side
                                                      Cm Bb
                                                                           F7
                                                                                     Bb7
They used to say I was the life of the party
                                                               There?s no point in making plans for it
But that was when I had you around
                                                               When we feel it in our hearts
             Α7
                          Dm
Now I?m on my own, putting words to our story
                                                               As much as we belong together
                                                                                   F Db F A7
And you?re some distant airport bound
                                                               We are meant to be apart
              Gm
God knows we tried, and how we tried
                                                               In time, we?ll both find our hope was misplaced
                                                                            Gm Am
Blissful days, and sleepless nights
Cm F7 Bb7
                                                               So much faith, gone to waste
                                                                                    Bb7
                                                               Cm
There is just no making sense of it
                                                               For we?ve refused to see the very thing
                                                               That?s been clear right from the start
It was doomed right from the start
                                                               G7
                                                               As much as we belong together
As much as we belong together
                     F Db F A7
                                                               C7
We are meant to be apart
                                                               We are really meant to be
                                                               A7
                                                               As much as we belong together
                          Dm
                                         Cm Bb
Board your plane, leave this man, out in the cold
                                                               D7
                                                               We are really meant to be
Who have I got to blame?
            Α7
                          Dm
                                                               As much as we belong together
Understand, you?re the one I wanna grow old with
                                                               We are really meant to be apart
But here we find ourselves again
