

The Amity Affliction - Don't Lean On Me

```
I really need you here, yeah I need you so don't leave.
Intro: G D Fm Bm G D A (segure)
                                                                                  Α
                                                        And don't count on me 'cause I am drowning, please don't drown
Let the ocean take me...
                                                        with me.
G D Fm Bm G D A Bm
                                                        Just hold me in your heart, let the ocean take me.
Verso:
            D
                                  Rm
                     Fm
                                                        G D Fm
                                                                     Rm
 You've gotta know kid that it ain't easy.
                                                              Let the ocean take me
To take on all of your grieving, yeah you gotta believe me.
                                                        G D Fm
                                                                     Bm
                                                              Let the ocean take me
Refrão:
                                                                     Bm
                                                              Let the ocean take me
Well don't lean on me 'cause I am falling, please don't fall
                                                        //UTTARRA
with me.
 D
                           Rm
                                                        Intro: C#|-
I really need you here, yeah I need you so don't leave.
                          Α
And don't count on me 'cause I am drowning, please don't drown
with me.
Just hold me in your heart, let the ocean take me.
                                                         Let the ocean take me
G D A Bm
                                                        - - |
Verso:
                               Fm
 And you think I don't read every message that you send?
                                                        C#|----
You think I turn a blind eye, you think I'm just like them?
It breaks my heart, all these stories, brings me to tears all this grief;
                                                         F#1888-8-88-8-101010-10-1010-10-101010-10-101010-10-
                                  Rm
and I feel so fucking helpless when I can't be your relief.
                                                         -000-0-00-0--
                                                        Refrão:
                                                        -000-0-00-0-- Α
                                      Bm
Well don't lean on me 'cause I am falling, please don't fall
                                                        C#1----
                           Bm
I really need you here, yeah I need you so don't leave.
                                                        G#|
                          Α
                                       Rm
                                                        ΕI
And don't count on me 'cause I am drowning, please don't drown
with me.
Just hold me in your heart, let the ocean take me.
                                                         F#10-0-0-0---0-0-0-0-
     Let the ocean take me
                                                        BI0-0-0-0---0-0-0-
G D A Bm
                                                        - - |
Ponte:
                 D
                                                        Verso
There is hope in my eyes, there is hope in these words.
                                                        C#1
            G
                        D
And there are far too many reasons for you to stay here on
                                                        G#|
this earth.
Stay with me.
Refrão:
                                                         F#|0-0-0-0-0-0-0-0-0-0-0-
Well don't lean on me 'cause I am falling, please don't fall
with me.
                                                        D
```

Acordes

