The Head And The Heart - It's Be Still

```
Tom: A so just for a moment
                                                             Bm
                                                                            F Intro 2x: A D E
                                                             just for one moment
                                                            Rm
                                                                        E
                                                             just for a moment lets be still you can get lost in the music for hours, honey n
                                                                      E
                                                             just for a moment lets be still
D
                        F
you can get lost in a room
                                                                       F Α
                                                              just for a moment lets be still we can play music for hours and hours
                                                             D
                                                                        E Α
                                                             just for a moment lets be still
       D
but the sun still be comming up soon
                                                             RTFF X3
                                                             ocultar tablaturaOcultar
Bm
                    F
the world is just spinning tablatura
Bm
             F
a little too fast
                 F tablatura
Bm
if things don't slow it down soon
             Gbm
                                                             RIFF during this part
A Abm
we might not last
Bm
                                                             ain't no time left for me
              E
so just for a moment lets be still i've been singing so clearly ain't no time for me ooh
you can get lost in the music for hours, honey
                                                             Bm
                                                             the world is just spinning
D
                         F
you can get lost in a room
                                                             Bm
                                                                           F
                                                             a little too fast
we can play music for hours and hours
                                                             Bm
                                                                               F
       D
                                                             if things don't slow it down soon
but the sun still be comming up soon
                                                             A Abm
                                                                           Gbm
                                                             we might not last
Bm
                     F
                                                             Bm
                                                                                  F
the world is not forgiving
                                                             the world is not forgiving
                                                             Bm
Bm
            E
                                                                          E of everyone's fears of everyone's fears Rm
                   E Rm
                                                                                E
the day is turning into months
                                                              the day is turning into months
  Α
        Abm Gbm
                                                                 Α Abm
                                                                                       Gbm
the month's turning to years
                                                             the month's turning to years
                                   DF
                              Α
                                                             Bm
Bm
            F
                                                                           F
                                                              so just for a moment lets be still so just for a moment lets be still
                                                             D
                                                                      E Α (ADE)
                                                             just for a moment lets be still E Dbm
             Gbm
                                                              just for a moment lets be still let tear it down
                                                                        E Dbm
           Gbm
                                                              just for a moment lets be still so we can rebuild
                                                                        Е Α
D
                                                             just for a moment lets be still
                F
and all of this time n
                                                                        F Α
                                                              just for a moment lets be still Α Abm
                       Gbm
it's just circles in my mind
                                                                       E
```

Acordes

Bm

F

Bn

just for a moment lets be still

Gbn

