The Hoosiers - A Sadness Runs Through Him

```
Tom: D
Intro: Bm   A   G   A   Bm   A   G   A

[Verse]
Bm            A                   G                        A
People are puppets, held together with string.
Bm              A          G              A
There's a beautiful sadness that runs through him,
Bm          A          G          A          Bm
G       A
as he asked me to pray to the god he doesn't believe in.

[Chorus 1]
Bm              A              G              A
Time and again boys race to be men:
Bm                  A        G            A
impatient they start, fearful at end.
Bm                  A        G              A
But here was a man mourning tomorrow.
Bm              A              G              A
He drank, but finally drowned in his sorrow.
Bm          A      G                  A
He could not break surface tension.
Bm                      A        G                  A
He looked in the wrong place for redemption.
Bm   A  G              A              Bm
Don't look at me with those eyes;
A   G          A        Bm
i tried to anaethetize:
A                  G              Em
turn back the time that drew him.
                              G
A   G   A   Bm   A   G   A
But he couldn't be saved: a sadness runs through him, through him.

[Chorus 2]
Bm              A              G              A
Time and again boys race to be men:
Bm              A        G          A
impatient they start, fearful at end.
Bm                  A        G              A
But here was a man mourning tomorrow.
