                        D
Okay, I realize now, that everything that I did was wrong
                                                             I even trusted you, shit, unsurprised
Em G D Am D Okay, I realize now, some things are better off said than done I'm walkin' away from you, it's about time
                                                             Want you to walk out and walk out of my life
Okay, I realize now, that maybe I'm not ready for love
                                                                 Em
Okay, I realize now, I finished us before we begun-un-un
                                                             And you, yeah, you (yeah, you)

                                                                                  Am
