

The Living Tombstone - No Mercy

```
Tom: G
                                                                Your tears are what I live for
            [Introdução] Bm A D B
                                                                You should've been Mercy
             Em D A Bm
                                                                I'm not gonna be any kind of support
[Primeira Parte]
                                                                            Em
                                                                We ended up losing and it's all your fault
                                                                           Gb
 This is the worst team I have ever played with in my life
                                                                Your tears are what I live for
When we finally get on the point everyone dies
                                                                ( Em
                                                                     D Gb
                                                                             B )
                                                                ( Em D Gb Bm )
( Em D Gb B )
                        D
 I understand that every now and then a team won't click
                                                                 (Em D Gb Bm)
When it comes to you, I don't think I can sympathize
                                                                [Pré-Refrão]
[Refrão]
                                                                                       D
                                                                Maybe I'll be Tracer - I'm already Tracer
You should've picked Mercy
                                                                What about Widowmaker? - I'm already Widowmaker
You should've picked any kind of support
           Em
                                                                I'll be Bastion - Nerf Bastion!
We ended up losing and it's all your fault
                                                                You're right. So, Winston - I wanna be Winston
          Gb
You should learn how this game works
                                                                                        D
                                                                I guess I'll be Genji - I'm already Genji
You should've been helping
                                                                Then I'll be McCree - I already chose McCree
"If you like Mercy so much
                                                                                 D
                                                                I have an idea - What's your idea?
Why don't you just marry her?"
                                                                You should be... - I'm not gonna be Mercy
[Segunda Parte]
                                                                [Refrão]
 So you're the type that gets a mic and tries to lecture me \stackrel{\text{m}}{\text{D}}
                                                                                   Fm D
                                                                You should've been Mercy
You're the most useless person we have on our team
                                                                                 Gb
Bm A D
                                                                I'm not gonna be any kind of support
I've never seen anybody rage quite as hard as you % \left\{ 1,2,\ldots ,n\right\}
                                                                            Em
                                                                We ended up losing and it's all your fault
Maybe you should go back to playing Team Fortress 2
                                                                           Gb
                                                                Your tears are what I live for
[Refrão]
                                                                I'm not gonna be Mercy
I'm not gonna be Mercy
                                                                You should've picked any kind of support
                 Gb
I'm not gonna be any kind of support
                                                                          Em
                                                                                          D
                                                                We ended up losing and you got all mad
           Em
                          D
We ended up losing and you got all mad
                                                                You should've learned how this game works
Acordes
```

