

The Lumineers - Plasticine

```
"Welcome to this party"
                                                                    Em C Am

"Welcome to this party"
                 Abm (forma dos acordes no tom de Em )
Capostraste na 4º casa
                                                                    [Interlúdio] G C Cm
        [Refrão]
                                                                    [Segunda Parte]
   Plasticine, I can bend me into anything you need
{\color{red} G} {\color{red} C} {\color{red} Am} {\color{red} Em} Self-assured with a team of writers feeding you the words
                                                                    Ev?ryone in a world so full of
                                                                    Sold you on the pictures
"Welcome to this party"
                                                                    Ar? you sure you wanna live forever?
   C Am
"Welcome to this party"
                                                                    Everyone in a world so full of
[Primeira Parte]
                                                                    Silent conversations
You and I both had our high hopes
                                                                    Can you promise not to fake it for us?
Radio is active, your success is so attractive to us
                                                                    [Pré-Refrão 21
Everyone said, "Carry on, kid"
                                                                      Mixin' up all our friends and enemies
Hiding all your pain behind the fog inside your brain and now
                                                                      Dress it up in a precious melody
[Pré-Refrão 1]
                                                                    [Refrão]
 Mixin' up all our friends and enemies
                                                                       Plasticine, I can bend me into anything you need
 Wasting all of your precious energy
                                                                    Self-assured with a team of writers just behind the door
[Refrão]
                                                                    "Welcome to this party"
                                                                       "Welcome to this party"
   Plasticine, I can bend me into anything you need
                                                                    [Final] Em G C Am Em G C Am Em
Self-assured with the teleprompters feeding you the words
Acordes
```

