

The Rolling Stones - Child Of The Moon

Tom: D

The wind blows rain into my face
 The sun glows at the end of the highway
 Child of the moon, rub your rainy eyes
 Oh, child of the moon
 Give me a wide-awake crescent-shaped smile...
 She shivers, by the light she is hidden
 She flickers like a lamp lady vision

Child of the moon, rub your rainy eyes
 Child of the moon
 Give me a wide-awake crescent-shaped smile...
 The first car on the foggy road riding
 The last star for my lady is pining
 Oh, child of the moon, bid the sun arise
 Oh, child of the moon
 Give me a misty day, pearly gray, silver, silky faced
 Wide-awake crescent-shaped smile...
