

The Shins - Girl On The Wing

Tom: A

Tabbed for Electric Guitar by Tomahawk, aka C A Owens

Have fun with this one, my brothers. I transcribed the guitar solo note for note, as a peace offering to you all. The rest of it also duplicates the album recording, but just play what comes naturally, to free the spirit.

The Spirits are pleased with you,
Tomahawk

In case you can't figure out this next section (it took me awhile to get it just right) it actually isn't too hard, the trick is this: do not bar the chords, you'll see why:

1st: just play chords to the main rhythm (same as the verse) when you have this part right, 2nd: then practice muting the E string leaning against it slightly with a finger while in chord position this adds the "chic" sound heard all the way through, marked with an X above the chords, then

3rd: add the rest of the "chic-a" sound in between the chords by lifting up slightly on the strings during the appropriate up or down stroke, giving the rhythm a triplet feel, essential to this section
