With an eye towards
A dollar to make
He pitched us a sale
About healin' and
Oil from a snake
The barkeep he warned him
But the man he
Did not comprehend

How strangers round here disappear
Like straw in the wind

Too young but in love
When she met him
In some northern town
He treated her good
'Till the sun and
The whiskey went down
Did the bruise on her face
Test the patience
Of all of her kin

Like straw in the wind

Oh Clem runs his mouth
When he drinks since
His wife passed away
But he's good to the kids
And his crops that
He sells for fair trade
But a travelling man
Had enough took a
Pipe to his chin

Another man's sin
