Troye Sivan - Wild

```
Tom: Bb
                                                                           Gm
                                                                                         Eb
                                                                Leave this blue neighbourhood
                       Gm
 Trying hard not to fall
                                                                Never knew loving could hurt this good, oh
 On the way home
                                                                                 Bb
                                                                And it drives me wild
                    F
                              Eb
 You were trying to wear me down
                                                                   Gm
                                                                                         Fb
                                                                Cause when you look like that
 Kissing up on fences
           Gm
                                                                I've never ever wanted to be so bad, oh
 And up on walls
                                                                Gm
                                                                            Bb
 On the way home
                                                                It drives me wild
                   F
                           Fb
                                                                                  F
                                                                                        Gm
                                                                                             Fb
 I guess it's all working out, now
                                                                You're driving me wild, wild, wild
                                                                                        Gm
                                                                                              Bb
                                                                You're driving me wild, wild, wild
                               Gm
 Cause there's still too long to the weekend
                                                                                  F
                                                                                        Gm
                                                                                              Eb
                                                                You're driving me wild, wild, wild
 Too long till I drown in your hands
                                                                                 F
                                                                                       Gm
                                                                                             Bb
                                                                You're driving me wild, wild, wild
            Eb
 Too long since I've been a fool
                                                                                       Gm
                                                                You make my heart shake
            Gm
                         Fb
 Leave this blue neighbourhood
                                                                Bend and break
                                                                But I can't turn away
 Never knew loving could hurt this good, oh
                                                                                         Fb
                                                                                   F
                                                                And it's driving me wild
Gm
                  Bb
                                                                You're driving me wild
 And it drives me wild
         Gm
                          Fb
 Cause when you look like that
                                                                                       Gm
                                                                You make my heart shake
 I've never ever wanted to be so bad, oh
                                                                Bend and break
              Bb
                                                                But I can't turn away
  It drives me wild
                                                                                   F
                                                                                         Eb
                                                                And it's driving me wild
                   F
                         Gm
                              Eb
 You're driving me wild, wild, wild
                                                                You're driving me wild
                         Gm
                               Bb
 You're driving me wild, wild, wild
                                                                           Gm
                                                                                         Fh
                                                                Leave this blue neighbourhood
 You're driving me wild
                                                                Never knew loving could hurt this good, oh
                   Gm
                                                               Gm
                                                                                 Bb
 White noise in my mind
                                                                And it drives me wild
                                                                                         Fb
                                                                         Gm
                                                                Cause when you look like that
 Won't calm down
                       Fb
              F
 You're all I think about
                                                                I've never ever wanted to be so bad, oh
                                                                             Bb
 Running on the music
                                                                It drives me wild
                                                                                 F
           Gm
                                                                                        Gm
                                                                                             Fb
 And night highs
                                                                You're driving me wild, wild, wild
                                                                                  F
                                                                                        Gm
                                                                                              Bb
                                                                You're driving me wild, wild, wild
 But when the light's out
            F
                 Eb
                                                                                       Gm
                                                                                             Eb
  It's me and you now
                                                                You're driving me wild, wild, wild
                                                                                       Gm
                                                                                 F
                                                                                             Bb
                                                                You're driving me wild, wild, wild
                               Gm
 Cause there's still too long to the weekend
                                                                        Gm
                                                                Wi-i-i-ild, wi-i-i-ild
 Too long till I drown in your hands
                                                                E.
                                                                     Fb Bb
            Fb
 Too long since I've been a fool
                                                                Wi-i-i-ild, hey!
```

Acordes

