

Turtle Giant - Something That You Need

Tom: C

I see you searching for your future
In this present tense
Where there's nothing you can loose
With your own bare hands

But there's nothing that I need
No there's nothing that I need
Look there's nothing that I need
Oh well, there's nothing that I need

I see you looking for romance
In every single chance
For there's always a new stance
Waiting in your hands

But there's nothing that I need
Oh well, there's nothing that I need
Look there's nothing that I need
Oh-oh there's nothing that I need

I've seen you lost and turned around, bruised and beaten down
Can you learn to loose?
Now here show them what you found

That there's nothing that you need
Oh well, there's nothing that you need
Look there's nothing that you need
Uh-uh there's nothing that you need

And now you're drifting into time
Into a different light
But if you open up your eyes
You will realize

That there's nothing that you need
Oh yes, there's nothing that you need
Look there's nothing that you need
Uh-uh there's nothing that you need

Filling eyes can lie and spin
That every life should win
And every mine made to achieve
Needs you to believe
That there's something that you need
Oh yes, there's something that you need
There's something that you need
There's something that you need
