

Twenty One Pilots - Paladin Strait

```
tom:
                                                               [Ponte]
Intro: Bb Gm Dm F C
                                                               Bb F Am Gm
[Primeira Parte]
                                                                Here's my chance, time to take it
I can't be alone
                                                               Can't be sure that I'll make it
                                                               Even though I'm past the point of no return
Guess I never told you so
Dm Dm C F C Bb
Makin' my way towards you
                                                               I'm all in, I'm surrounded
Tracin' out a line
                                                               Put my money where my mouth is
                                                                             Gm
A route I've mapped a thousand times Dm Dm C F C Bb
                                                               Even though I'm past the point of no return
Makin' my way towards you
                                                               Here's my chance, time to take it
                                                               Can't be sure that I'll make it
[Refrão]
                                                                              Gm
    Dm .
                                                               Even though I'm past the point of no return
I would swim the Paladin Strait
                                                               I'm all in, I'm surrounded
 C Bb
Without any floatation
                                                               Put my money where my mouth is
   Dm
Just a glimpse of visual aid
                                                                             Gm
                                                               Even though I'm past the point of no return
C Bb
Of you on the other shoreline
Dm F C Bb
                                                               [Refrão]
Waitin', expectations that I'm gonna make it
                                                                      Dm
                                                               I would swim the Paladin Strait
Mm-hm, hm-hm-hm
                                                                        Bb
                                                               Without any floatation
[Segunda Parte]
                                                                  Dm
                                                               Just a glimpse of visual aid
Standing on the shore
                                                               Of you on the other shoreline
          Dm
Staring down a hurtling storm Dm Dm C F C Bb
                                                              Dm F C Bb Dm
Waitin', expectations that I'm gonna make it
Makin' it's way toward me
                                                               Mm-hm, hm-hm-hm
Water rips with rage
                                                               [Final] Bb F Am Gm
        Dm
Endless row of angry waves
Dm Dm C F C
Makin' it's way towards me
                                                                On the ground are banditos
                                                               Fighting while I find Nico
[Refrão]
        Dm
                                                               Even though I'm past the point of no return
I would swim the Paladin Strait
C Bb
                                                               Climb the top of the tower
Without any floatation
                                                               Show yourself!, I yell louder
   Dm
Just a glimpse of visual aid
                                                               Even though I'm past the point of no ret?
Of you on the other shoreline
Dm F C Bb Dm
Waitin', expectations that I'm gonna make it
                                                               So few, so proud, so emotional
                                                               Hello, Clancy
Acordes
                                     ukulele-chords.com
```

Mm-hm, hm-hm-hm