

Vitoria Santos - All Babies Look The Same

Tom: A

I know once again he didn't stay
 But don't let it make you blue
 All you need is your mom's embrace
 And your sister thinks you're cool
 He doesn't deserve to be craved
 To cause abandonment issues
 You'll be so smart someday
 Like me but less misunderstood
 Your round, genderless face
 You'll look like our grandma too
 And all babies look the same
 Except for our sister and you

You're special to me, at least
 I hope we get to meet

I'll sing a lullaby and cry
 'Cause your eyes are the same as mine

They think otherwise but someday
 You'll get to look at him and say
 Fuck your babyface

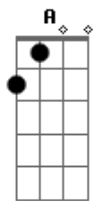

You're the liar, you're insane

You'll be so smart someday
 Like me but less misunderstood
 Your round, genderless face
 You'll look like our grandma too
 And all babies look the same
 Except for our sister and you

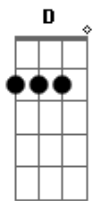

You see him in your ID
 When you write down your name
 When you look in the mirror
 You'll still see his face
 But if he went away
 Make sure that's where he'll stay
 Eventually
 The pain will fade

You'll be so smart someday
 Like me but less misunderstood
 Your round, genderless face
 You'll look like our grandma too
 And all babies look the same
 Except for our sister and you
 Except for our sister and you
