                                                                But remember I'm a magician
Into the woods
                                                                People would kill
To go and cut down an oak tree
                                                                         Am
                                                                To be in this position
Pick something good
                                                                       G
                                                                People would kill
Something I know will hold me
                                                                        Gbm
                                                                Well, they can use my knife

Better than you
Better than poetry
                                                                Good night, I just need my beauty sleep
Into the woods
                                                                Goodbye, won't you let me rest in peace
Into the would
                                                                Maybe I would finally feel like me
                                                                In a suit of arbor
I live the metaphors I write?
                                                                Good night, I just need my beauty sleep
Happiness is a choice that you make
                                                                My life was an actor preparing
Yeah, right
                                                                It's time for the role that's made for me
People would kill for the spotlight
                                                                It's time to play the martyr
Well, they can use my knife
                                                                (Em G C Am)
Good night, I just need my beauty sleep
                                                                (Go)
Goodbye, won't you let me rest in peace
                                                                (Em G C Am)
Maybe I would finally feel like me
                                                                (Em G C Am )

                                                                Good night, I just need my beauty sleep
Good night, I just need my beauty sleep
                                                                Goodbye, won't you let me rest in peace
My life was an actor preparing
                                                                Maybe I would finally feel like me
It's time for the role that's made for me
                                                                In a suit of arbor
It's time to play the martyr
                                                                Good night, I just need my beauty sleep

                                                                It's time for the role that's made for me
Into the weeds
                                                                It's time to play the martyr
Don't I make a great addition?
