Vundabar - I Got Cracked

```
So good God, come here and gimme a kiss
                tom:
                Bb (forma dos acordes no tom de G )
Capostraste na 3ª casa
                                                               [Refrão]
        [Primeira Parte]
                                                                                   Bm
                                                               And I broke my heart, and I broke my arm
G
                Am
                                                               Am
In the meantime, in the in-between time
                                                               And I spread some ashes
Bm
Do you think of me? A cloud passing in your
                                                               Can't stop laughing, got fifty lashes
                                                                                   Bm
                      G
                                                               C
                                                               And I broke my jaw, and I broke the law
Sky at night, yeah
                Am
To the grim old, softened light
                                                               And I spread some ashes
Bm
                                                               Peeling off all these fak? eyelashes, y?ah
I can be mean, I can be nice
In the breaking process, the cracks form
                                                               D
                                                               I got cracked, I got cracked, I got cracked
    Bm
Into lies
                                                               So I can't get broke no more
                     С
Let in the lightness, yeah, the clearing
Brightness
                                                               [Interlúdio]
                                                                C Bm Am G
                                                                C
[Refrão]
                                                               [Pós-refrão]
                    Bm
And I broke my heart, and I broke my arm
                                                               Bm
                                                               Oh-oh-oh-oh-oh
And I spread some ashes
                                                               Am
                                                               Oh-oh-oh-oh-oh
Can't stop laughing, got fifty lashes
                                                               Ooh-ooh-ooh-ooh Yeah-yeah, yeah (Kiss)
                   Bm
And I broke my jaw, and I broke the law
                                                               [Refrão]
Am
And I spread some ashes
                                                                                   Bm
                                                               And I broke my heart, and I broke my arm
Peeling off all these fak? eyelashes, y?ah
                                                               And I spread some ashes
I got cracked, I got cracked, I got cracked
                                                               Can't stop laughing, got fifty lashes
So I can't get broke no more
                                                               And I broke my jaw, and I broke the law
[Pós-refrão]
                                                               And I spread some ashes
                                                               Peeling off all these fak? eyelashes, y?ah
Δm
0h-oh-oh-oh-oh
                                                                              Bm
Bm
0h-oh-oh-oh-oh
                                                               I got cracked, I got cracked, I got cracked
                                                               So I can't get broke no more
Ooh-ooh-ooh-ooh Yeah-yeah, yeah
                                                                              Bm
                                                               I got cracked, I got cracked, I got cracked
[Segunda Parte]
                                                                                    С
                                                               So I can't get broke no more (Kiss)
               Am
In the spaces, in-between the laces
                                                               [Pós-refrão]
They tie up a lot, fraying on every single (Gimme a kiss)
Side, yeah
                                                               Bm
                                                               Oh-oh-oh-oh-oh
We say into each other's eyes
                                                               Am
                                                               Oh-oh-oh-oh (Kiss)
              Bm
"I know how it ends, so why do I worry?"
                                                               Ooh-ooh-ooh-ooh Yeah-yeah, yeah
"I know how it ends, so why do I hurry?"
              G
I know how it ends, it ends, it ends, it
                                                               I got cracked, I got cracked, I got cracked
Ends, it ends, it ends, it ends
                                                               So I can't get broke no more
Acordes
```

Bm

D

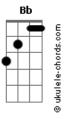

Bm

Am

G

Bm Am G

Oferecimento Lojalele.com.br

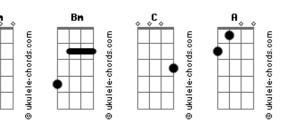

© ukulele-chords.com

© ukulele-chords.com