

Warren Barfield - Head Held High

oh oh oh
Intro: 2x: Em C G D Em C G A
                                                              C G
                                                          Well it's a crying shame

Em C G D A
            G
 They say you learn from your mistakes
                                                           Walking around with our secrets
 Em C G D A
Well I guess I should be a genius

Em C G D

For all the times I've fallen on my face

Em C G D A

Tangled in my weakness
                                                          Em C
                                                                              G
                                                          So afraid of what others might think Em C G D A
                                                          Living safe and living defeated
                                                          Wanting someone to say
Wishing someone would say
                                                          Refrão:
C Em D C
                                                          We should confess our sin
Keep your head held high C G D Em
                                                           Em D
                                                          We should love
Don't stop believing
                                                          C Em
                                                          Church, it's time we begin Am C D
 C G D Em
You are God's child
                                                          To build one another up
And His strength is stronger than your weakness
                                                          Come on (Refrão 2x)
