  I can remember planning Building my whole world around you Without you my life is so dead
  And I can remember hoping that you and I could make Em7

it on through You go your way and I'll go \bar{\text{my}} way we loved each other
