

Will Joseph Cook - Be Around Me

T.l.d.r, I just wanna let you know
                            tom:
                Ē
                                                                I've fallen for you
            [Refrão]
                                                                [Refrão]
Hey hey, how was your day?
                                                                Hey hey, how was your day?
Mine was fine but I think about you all?the?time
                                                                Mine was fine but I think about you all the time
Can?t get you?out of my brain
                                                                 Gbm7
                                                                Can?t get you out of my brain
I?m around, be?around
                                                                I?m around, be around
Come around, be around me
                                                                Come around, be around me
Hi hi, how was your night?
                                                                Hi hi, how was your night?
Mine was wack then I thought about you felt alright
                                                                Mine was wack then I thought about you felt alright
Can?t get you out of my mind
                                                                 Gbm7
                                                                Can?t get you out of my mind
I?m around, be around
                                                                I?m around, be around
Come around, be around me
                                                                Come around, be around me
[Primeira Parte]
                                                                [Terceira Parte]
Did I fuck it up again?
                                                                Take my heart and assess the damages
Are we destined to be friends?
                                                                Want you crawling up me
I wanna give you more than that
                                                                Baby don?t stop now
You a smokev tenny-ten
                                                                 Ah7
                                                                Days before you are pale in comparison
And I?ve got some time to lend
                                                                I must adore you
T.l.d.r, we should do this again
                                                                 Gbm7
                                                                And honestly
[Refrão]
                                                                I heard November hates you
Hey hey, how was your day?
                                                                And all the cloudy shit grey skies you break through
Mine was fine but I think about you all the time
                                                                Bet everybody knows you in June
                                                                [Quarta Parte]
Can?t get you out of my brain
Gbm
I?m around, be around
                                                                Omg did you call me baby?
Come around, be around me
                                                                Maybe, is that okay?
Hi hi, how was your night?
                                                                           Gbm7
                                                                Yeah it?s cool, I liked it
Mine was wack then I thought about you felt alright
                                                                Cool
Can?t get you out of my mind
                                                                [Final]
Ghm
I?m around, be around
Come around, be around me
                                                                Ahhh (yeah)
                                                                           Gbm7
[Segunda Parte]
                                                                Be around me
                                                                Yeah I?m around-round-round
Got me tripping on my tongue
                                                                I can?t get ya get ya get ya
Watching denim come undone
                                                                Get ya out of my mind
I have an idea, why don?t we just
                                                                I?m around, be around
Stop the clocks when I take you home
                                                                Come around, be around me
Sweep you off of your tippy toes
