

Your Broken Hero - A Letter to Ashley

```
tom:
               Db (forma dos acordes no tom de D )
                                                                       Bm
                                                               Oh Ashley, you were the best part of me
                           Afinação: Eb Ab Db Gb Bb Eb
Intro: D
                                                                            G
                                                               Ripped out my heart for me
[Refrão]
                                                                  Em
                                                                                    Bm
                                                              Now I can bleed for eternity, for eternity
                             G
Oh Ashley, you were the best part of me
                                                               [Segunda Parte]
            G
Ripped out my heart for me
   Em
                     Rm
                                                              Oh Sophia, a beautiful name
Now I can bleed for eternity, for eternity
                                                              What to mak? you go insane
Oh Ashley, oh Ashley
                                                               For loving you too much, was I wrong?
1! 2! 3! GO!
                                                              A simple letter to tell me you love me never
                                                              Would've been a better memory than turn it into enemies
(GBmA)
                                                              Then tell me I need therapy from everything you did to me
                                                              The jealousy was mentally draining me from my misery
[Primeira Parte]
                                                               [Refrão]
Oh Britney, the queen of my heart
                                                                       Bm
                                                                              Α
                                                               Oh Ashley, you were the best part of me
The one who left me in the dark, so alone
                                                                             G
I'm so alone, oh Sarah, why did you make me die, inside
                                                               Ripped out my heart for me
                                                                  Em
                                                                                    Bm
                                                              Now I can bleed for eternity, for eternity
Now I'm dead inside
       D
Now I'm dead inside
                                                              Oh Ashley, oh Ashley
Acordes
     DЬ
                                Εb
                                             Яb
```

[Refrão]

