

Zakk Wylde - Eyes Of Burden

```
tom:
                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                       [Refrão]
  Intro: D Am C G
                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                    As I cross these oceans of time % \left\{ 1,2,\ldots ,n\right\}
                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                    Just so I can make you mine
  D Am
  Years pass and the seasons change

D Am C G
                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                      These eyes of burden
Hopes that drown within life's pouring rain D Am C G
Time weighs on the strands of faith D Am C G
End of days, for you I wait
                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                      I shall make blind
                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                      G G Em
                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                      Just so I can make you mine
                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                       [Solo] D Am C G
  [Refrão]
                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                       [Refrão Final]
  As I cross these oceans of time
                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                      As I cross these oceans of time
  Just so I can make you mine
                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                      Just so I can make you mine
  These eyes of burden
                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                      These eyes of burden
  I shall make blind G G Em D
                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                      I shall make blind
  Just so I can make you mine
                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                    Just so I can make you mine % \left( 1\right) =\left( 1\right) \left( 1
 Thoughts of you
                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                      As I cross these oceans of time
  My world, it smiles
                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                      Just so I can make you mine
  The cold embrace
                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                      These eyes of burden
  Of one's endless mile
                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                      I shall make blind
  \ensuremath{\mathsf{D}} \ensuremath{\mathsf{Am}} \ensuremath{\mathsf{C}} \ensuremath{\mathsf{G}} The snow that falls upon disheartened faith
                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                    G G Em
                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                    Just so I can make you mine
```

End of days, for you I wait

Acordes

