Of the words I wished to say
                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                        Lay me down upon your fears
For just one moment, I'll give back all my yesterdays
                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                      Lay me down across the waters that gather all your tears

Lay me down upon your fears
                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                         Falling so far
Lay me down across the waters that gather all your tears
                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                         Can I find my way back home?
Lay me down
                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                         Lay me down upon your darkness
